

1. NBA – Indiana Pacers at Oklahoma City Thunder (Moneyline, Sun June 8, 6:30 PM MT) – Pacers +390 (underdog to win) – DraftKings Link: [73†embed] . Profit Potential Rationale: The Pacers are heavy underdogs but offer big upside at +390 ¹ . Indiana has shown a knack for road upsets – they’ve stolen at least one road win in every series so far ² . In fact, they already rallied from 15 down to win in Oklahoma City once this Finals, proving they can overcome the Thunder’s 8-2 home dominance ² . With Tyrese Haliburton orchestrating a balanced Pacers offense and no major injuries reported, a shock victory is plausible. Confidence is medium – the Thunder are favorites for good reason, but Indiana’s resilience and momentum give this longshot upset real value.
2. NHL – Florida Panthers at Edmonton Oilers (Moneyline, Fri June 6, 8:00 PM MT) – Panthers +111 – DraftKings Link: [93†embed] . Profit Potential Rationale: Florida is a slight underdog with enticing +111 odds ³ in Game 2 of the Stanley Cup Final. The Panthers actually outplayed Edmonton in Game 1 (52.3% Corsi-For, more scoring chances) despite an OT loss ⁴ . It’s rare for Florida to blow a late lead under coach Paul Maurice ⁵ , so expect a tighter finish if they get ahead. Moreover, goalie Sergei Bobrovsky has a stellar .932 save percentage over his last 11 starts ⁶ – a strong indicator he can bounce back. Given the Panthers’ proven resilience and statistical edge at 5-on-5, we have high confidence in their value to even the series at plus-money.
3. MLB – Boston Red Sox at New York Yankees (Moneyline, Fri June 6, 7:05 PM ET / 5:05 PM MT) – Red Sox +160 (approx.) – DraftKings Link: [90†embed] . Profit Potential Rationale: Boston is a significant underdog (Yankees were -190 on the moneyline ⁷ , implying roughly +160 for Boston) in this rivalry showdown, but there are reasons to like the payoff. Three-time World Series starter Walker Buehler takes the mound for Boston, bringing big-game experience that could neutralize New York’s young lineup. The Yankees’ rotation is thinner without ace Gerrit Cole (out for 2025) ⁸ , and they’re relying on a rookie arm (Will Warren) prone to hard contact. This historic rivalry often produces drama and upsets ⁹ . While the Yankees are the better team on paper, the confidence is moderate that Boston’s seasoned pitcher and the unpredictable nature of Red Sox-Yankees games can deliver an upset (and a hefty payout).
4. Tennis – French Open Men’s Final (Moneyline, Sun June 8, ~7:00 AM MT) – Novak Djokovic +130 (to win final) – DraftKings Link: [94†embed] . Profit Potential Rationale: Djokovic offers underdog odds in the French Open final, a rare occurrence that savvy bettors can exploit. He is a 23-time Grand Slam champion and will be playing in his record 34th major final ¹⁰ – an unparalleled level of experience. In contrast, his opponent (whether it’s a younger star like Alcaraz or Sinner) will feel enormous pressure; we saw a cramping Alcaraz wilt under Novak’s intensity in Paris 2023 ¹⁰ . Djokovic’s superior fitness, mental toughness and tactical nous on clay give him a very realistic chance to win outright. Data reliability is high here – decades of evidence show Djokovic rises to the occasion, so getting him at plus odds in a final is strong value.
5. Golf – RBC Canadian Open: Nick Taylor Top-10 Finish (Tournament ends Sun June 8) – Top-10 Finish +300 (approx.) – DraftKings Link: [50†embed] . Profit Potential Rationale: Canadian Nick Taylor presents an excellent high-reward bet to place top-10 in his home Open. He famously won the 2023 RBC Canadian Open with a 72-foot eagle putt in a playoff ¹¹ , becoming the first Canadian champion of this event in 69 years ¹² . That triumph on this same TPC Toronto course shows Taylor thrives under the home-country pressure. He comes in with the crowd firmly behind him and intimate knowledge of the course setup ¹³. While not the favorite, Taylor has proven he can contend with elite fields here. Given the boost of playing on home soil and his clutch history, a top-10 is well within reach – our confidence is medium-high that his upside at +300 odds justifies the risk for a strong payoff.
